Susan Sarni is ready to shine

Sun protection is a top priority

By Amanda C. Thompson
athompson@wickedlocal.com

Susan Sarni, Cohasset's new Director of Public Health, can hardly wait to get started, but she's taking the time to put on her sunscreen before she dives in. Sarni wants to get to know the town and its needs before making any big changes.

Come summer, Sarni is going to hit the sand running with a public melanoma education program.

This is her pet issue and the focus of her graduate thesis-in-progress. Sarni will complete her Master's Degree in public health from the University of New England next month.

Sarni said that beach towns like Cohasset are high-risk communities for skin damage. Men are especially at risk because they don't always go to regular checkups to have their skin examined. Melanoma often shows up on their backs, where they can't reach to apply sunscreen and the damage is out of sight.

With the help of Mary Goodwin (Public Health Nurse) and Town Manager Chris Senior, Sarni wants to get the word out. She'll be on site at Sandy Beach this summer with an ultraviolet camera shared by three other nearby communities, urging beachgoers to use their sunscreen.

Felix Zemel, Cohasset's former Health Agent, resigned his position last November. Jennifer Sullivan of Braintree has filled in since then, and it was Sullivan who encouraged Sarni to apply.

Sullivan met Sarni while the two of them were serving as Health Agents for different towns - Sullivan during her 27-year tenure with Scituate, and Sarni during her four-and-a-half-year service to Hingham. Sullivan is confident that the new Director of Public Health can handle the responsibility, since she has experience with similar needs in Hingham.

Senior said that Sarni "universally impressed all of us" with her excitement about the profession and her studious knowledge about the town. "She's really interested in working with the townspeople and business owners, and in being

Family with a heart of Steele

Balance studio supporting the cause

By Amanda C. Thompson
athompson@wickedlocal.com

Cohasset just saw the anniversary of a very sad day: the day we lost Margie Steele to early onset Alzheimer's disease. But you won't see Margie's husband Matt Steele moping around or making trite gestures in her memory.

No, this June 20th, Matt Steele is climbing a mountain for Margie... him, and 47 other teams from across the region, which he worked to coordinate.

Cohasset remembers Margie for her work with the food pantry, which earned her the Mariner's Citizen of the Year award in 2006. She suffered from Alzheimer's from the age of 50 until she passed away last year at 57.

At that time, her family came together to climb Cannon Mountain in her memory, so in a way, this year's hike is a carrying-on of tradition. But it's grown much larger than the family. Matt Steele has teamed up with Jason

The Longest Day is a sunrise-to-sunset challenge to raise awareness and funds to fuel the care, support and research programs of the Alzheimer's Association. Alzheimer's disease is a growing epidemic and is the nation's sixth leading cause of death.

Steele and his family participated in the Longest Day's very first event in 2013 while they were still caring for Margie. The challenge invites participants to do "an activity

Town election

Candidate profiles, see A11

By Amanda C. Thompson
athompson@wickedlocal.com

Saturday's election will decide the winner of three campaign races, one for the Board of Selectmen, one for the Board of Health, and one for the Library Trustees.

Three candidates are competing for a single chair on the Board of Selectmen: incumbent Martha Gjestebj, Peter Pescatore, and Paul Schubert.

Gjestebj is excited for the election and wishes for the town to share in her enthusiasm. "This is part of democracy, no matter who wins," she said. "And I have no idea who will. Maybe I'll win, maybe I won't."

Despite the mystery of her disappearing signs, which Gjestebj said was disappointing and made a lot of people angry, she feels the campaign is

TOWN MEETING

Senior Center passes muster easily

Voters were in a 'yes' mood

By Amanda C. Thompson
athompson@wickedlocal.com

Saturday's Annual Town Meeting was as swift and civilized as anyone could have hoped for. A quorum of 100 was reached by 10:15; by 12:53, the meeting had dissolved, with all motions adopted within that less-than-three hour span. An unofficial count showed 253 voters in participation.

The big ticket item on the agenda was the purchase of 91 Sohier Street (Wilcutt Commons) from the Social Service League for use as a senior center and other municipal purposes. The Board of Selectmen worked down to the wire to complete a motion for Article 16.

The BOS unanimously recommended the motion to purchase Wilcutt Commons for an amount not to exceed $1,030,000. Selectman Steve Gaumer said it was an incredible challenge to compose a motion that all five members of the Board could agree on, but they were confident with

Debbie Shadd

Name: Debbie Shadd.

Occupation: President of the Cohasset Conservation Trust (CCT).

Best Day of Your Life: The days my 3 children were born.

Best Vacation: Istanbul, Turkey- first in 2005 with my family for my brother-in-law's wedding, and then again in the fall of 2014 with friends.

Favorite Season: Fall. The weather is still great for outdoor activities and the light and colors are so beautiful.

Favorite Holiday: Earth Day and our annual Earth Day Cleanup of Bassing Beach with the high school lacrosse teams.

Favorite junk food: Any kind of chocolate ice cream.

Best Book: I just read "All the Light You Cannot See" by Anthony Doerr and loved it -- an incredibly creative story set during World War II.

Best Movie or Actor: Anything with Meryl Streep or Jack Nicholson.

Best TV Show: Any of the series of Law & Order shows.

Best Music, Group or Artist: Steeleye Span -- I love those old English ballads.

Pet Peeve: People dumping yard waste and littering on CCT properties. We spend a lot of time doing cleanups!

Fun Fact: For the past 7 years, I've done a women's hut-to-hut hiking trip in the White Mountains every summer.

Goal: To get more people to enjoy the Cohasset Conservation Trust's properties -- especially the walking trails in Great Brewster Woods behind Town Hall and in the new Ingram Park off Beechwood Street.

Person You'd Most Like to Meet: Eleanor Roosevelt.

Biggest Worry: Finding ways to engage more young people in land conservation and outdoor recreation. The best opportunity to preserve additional open space is now!

Best Part of Cohasset: Any Cohasset Conservation Trust property! We have beautiful woods, beaches and scenic vistas. Find them all on our web site and come visit us this summer! And look for us at the Cohasset Farmers Market this year!

POLICE BEAT

Dunkin Donuts driveway is dangerous exit

By Mary Ford

mford@wickedlocal.com

MVA

Police responded to a two-car crash on Thursday morning (April 30) around 10:15 a.m. at the driveway at Dunkin Donuts off King Street (Route 3A). A 36-year-old Cohasset woman in a 2011 Jeep SUV had attempted to pull out to make a left toward Scituate but was having a hard time getting out and had pulled out too far. Police said she then backed up into the driveway and hit a 2004 Chrysler, operated by a 52-year-old Scituate woman. There were no injuries, no citations and no tows.

Lost in woods

Police responded to a 9-1-1 call from two women who were lost in Whitney Woods on Tuesday afternoon (April 28) around 2 p.m. The dispatcher told the women to stay put and provided the marker information where they were located. Cohasset police can call up maps of local recreation areas including Whitney Woods and were on their way to the marker where the women were located when they met them on their way out of the property with the help of another hiker.

MV stop

A 34-year-old Scituate man is being summonsed to court for speeding and unlicensed operation following a traffic stop on Tuesday morning (April 28) around 10:35 a.m.

The officer pulled over the 2011 Nissan Rogue SUV for traveling 50 mph in a 30 mph zone on Forest Avenue. Further investigation showed the driver's license expired on April 17. His passenger, a 27-year-old Scituate woman, who had a valid license, was able to take possession of the vehicle so it was not towed, police said.

Harassment

Police are investigating a series of harassing and obscene phone calls on the cell phone of the 26-year-old Cohasset woman who reported the calls to police last week. The calls had been occurring between the hours of 1 and 3 a.m. and caller ID was blocked. The woman provided the police with the names of potential suspects and the matter is under investigation.

Youth complaint

Residents of Bates Lane complained to police that baseballs have been flying over the fence at the ballpark and hitting their house. So far there has been no damage but the family wanted it logged. They were advised to contact the Recreation Department if the problem continues.

Sign gate

Police responded to a report from a passerby that election signs for a candidate in the Town Election had been placed on the Town Common by vandals last Thursday morning (April 30). There were nine signs for Martha Gjesteb, candidate for reelection to the Board of Selectmen, laying on the grass strewn about the common.

Police warn that it is illegal to tamper with an election. Police investigated, collected evidence at the scene, and also checked with houses around the common to see if any had video surveillance. The campaign for one of the opposing candidates notified police when they learned about the vandalism and offered full cooperation with the investigation.

The signs were returned to Gjesteb who was very complimentary about the police response.

Jogger mishap

An officer witnessed a jogger run into a trash can for recyclables that had just been returned to the side of Summer Street on Friday (May 1) around 11:30 a.m. Police said the trash truck was returning the recycling container to the sidewalk when the jogger ran into it. The officer attempted to speak to the jogger who said she was fine and she declined to provide any identification. She blessed the officer and ran off.

WATER COMMISSIONER

Big fish joins Cohasset 'Water Team'

By Amanda C. Thompson

athompson@wickedlocal.com

The new Water Commissioner is a big fish in a small pond. A big, friendly fish who enjoys football and Johnny Cash and hopes you will call him at work to talk about the water.

John Steinmetz joins the team with a degree in political science (Dickinson College, 1990, magna cum laude) and one in law (Boston University, 1993, cum laude). He has worked in law ever since, first in Connecticut and then in Massachusetts, with a focus on litigation.

15 years ago, Steinmetz became a litigation partner at Robinson & Cole law firm, a role that he feels will inform his duties as Water Commissioner.

"One of the biggest things is being able to work collaboratively with people to find the best solution," he said. Being a litigation partner taught him to manage large cases, resolve issues amicably, do his research, and work as a team.

As a result, Steinmetz wants to work "in a friendly and cooperative manner with everybody in town and members of the other boards." He also wants to be available to the people of Cohasset and hopes they will feel free to call or email him at any time.

Steinmetz racked up experience dealing with highly regulated companies, which he said is similar to scenarios he will face as Water Commissioner. He also learned that every case is unique and deserves its own solution; there's no one-size-fits-all - in litigation or in water regulations.

The Water Commissioners work with the water department to provide the very best water to Cohasset residents and to keep things running smoothly, through the small, daily issues to the big-picture concerns - like the water rate adjustment article that passed at Town meeting this week.

Steinmetz supported the rate adjustment, which was based on an in-depth study performed by Woodard and Curran this year. He said the article is "fair," adding that he respected those who asked questions at Town Meeting and hopes that his answers were not received as contentious.

Steinmetz and his wife moved to Cohasset in 2000. For a decade, they both practiced law, but after they had their third and fourth children (twins), something had to change. They were both traveling too much to take care of the kids. Steinmetz decided to go part-time, and eventually became a stay-at-home dad.

"It's been rewarding," he said. "It's a much better balance than when we were both flying all over the place." In recent years, the family has been able to enjoy the children's sports games, take trips together, and learn to ski with family friends.

The Steinmetz family loves Cohasset, especially the school system, and plans to be here for the long haul. That's why Steinmetz decided to give back by getting involved with the Water Commission.

Steinmetz takes the place of Daniel Varney, who recently resigned. Varney's term was due to end in May of 2016. His resignation did not come soon enough for the position to appear on the May 9th election ballot, so it was up to the Water Commission and the Board of Selectmen to appoint a new member until next year's Town Election.

The Water Commission and the Board of Selectmen unanimously supported Steinmetz's application to the position.

"I am very pleased that John has stepped up to join the Water Commission," said Commissioner Leonora Jenkins. "His background adds another unique perspective to our board, which is always welcome in serving our ratepayers."

Water Commissioner Rolf Gjesteb said "it is with happiness" that they welcome John to the "Water Team."

"I am looking forward to drinking many glasses of clean Cohasset water together," said Gjesteb.

FIRE REPORT

Structure fire last Saturday

On Saturday May 2, at 7:13 p.m., Engine 2 (A/Lt. Morrison and FF/Medic Donovan), Engine 3 (FF/Medic Collins) and Ambulance 2 (FF/Medic Mellen) were dispatched from headquarters for a reported structure fire at 240 King St. While units were responding to the scene the dispatch center paged out a recall of off-duty members for a reported building fire. Lt. Protulis responded back to the station, manned Ladder 1 and responded to the scene.

Heavy fire was visible from the right side of the one and half story single family on arrival of the scene. A/Lt. Morrison established command of the scene and ordered a second alarm response to the scene. Members then initiated an aggressive interior attack on the fire by forcing the front door open and stretching an attack line on the fire. C-1 Chief Silvia and C-2 Assistant Chief Dockray arrived on scene and command was transferred to Chief Silvia. A second attack line was then stretched to the exterior of the right side of the building and the heavy fire was knocked down within 10 minutes.

Mutual aid engine companies from Scituate and Hingham arrived on scene and assisted Cohasset personnel in conducting a primary and secondary search of the building and in overhaul operations. An engine company from Norwell also responded to the scene, but was returned to quarters once the heavy fire was knocked down and the primary and secondary searches were completed.

Once members were engaged in overhaul operations it was determined that the residents were not home at the time of the fire. An engine company from Hull covered fire headquarters while units were tied up at the scene. One member did sustain a minor injury, which was treated on scene. A trooper from the fire marshal's office arrived on scene to help assist Cohasset Fire and Police personnel in determining the cause of the fire.

At this time the cause of fire is still under investigation. Cohasset Police also assisted fire personnel on scene by closing a portion of King Street while members were operating at the scene. Call Firefighters Maguire, Maynard, and McKay also responded to the scene and assisted in extinguishing the fire.

Lecture features
WWII memories

Cohasset Historical Society will present this month's Wednesday Evening Lecture at 7:30 p.m., on May 13, at the Pratt Building, 106 South Main St. The program will be a tribute to the society's late historian David Wadsworth with a reading of his "Growing Up in Cohasset During World War II: Some Recollections of Events of the War Years 1940-1945."

Jim Morrison will bring Wadsworth's words to life with his reading from a brochure written for the Historical Society detailing Wadsworth's memories. Wadsworth's passing was a loss both to the society and to the town of Cohasset. Hearing Wadsworth's words promises to be a bittersweet journey into the past.

There is no charge for this program, but donations are always cheerfully accepted. Light refreshment will be available and all are invited to attend this presentation.

AROUND TOWN

Guidelines for news submissions

News 'rules'

Hi Cohasset, how are you all doing this week? Before I get into the great things of the week as well as what is happening this weekend, I need to address a few issues that need to be put to bed on my end with the column.

The first is not a huge deal, really just a "housekeeping" one so to speak. When you are sending in event information about all the wonderful things that are happening around town, in your businesses, schools or non-profits, please do not send me the actual flyer without enough information to draw from or, such a huge press release with so much information about history, characters and other info that I cannot find the actual info needed to write the key pieces needed.

I love to write about all of the wonderful and exciting events that are sent however, I need to keep them fun, quick and to the point so that you as the readers can take in the whole column, read and enjoy a wide variety to meet something for everyone.

Also, please send in more of the personal and congratulatory-type messages again such as Happy Birthday, Wedding Announcements, School Announcements (Preschool-College, all are important!) and of course, new, bouncing baby birth announcements too. Send to aroundtowncohasset@yahoo.com.

My next message is a tricky one. I will not include anything in the column EVER that will hurt or insult, criticize or state anyone's opinion, including my own, for or against anything that is going on in town, ever. Do not try to send an email, message me on any type of social media or text/phone me with these intentions as I am not interested in it. The Around Town Column deals with the fun, good and "It Takes A Village" kind of stuff happening around the town. If you have an issue with someone else in the community, take it up with them. Thanks so much and now... on with the column!

Mothers Day

This past week has been a pretty nice one overall weather-wise. It has been leading up to what looks like a great weekend overall, getting us ready for Mothers Day on Sunday. For all the Moms, Aunts, Grammas and special ladies and women who are here and mean so much to us today, Happy Mothers Day to you all. Please take the time if possible for everyone to unwind, enjoy those who you are with and do something together with those you love. A nice walk in the woods, a bike ride, walk or trip to the beach or a visit to get some flowers for the yard, it all sounds great (and yes, breakfast in bed or, just sleeping in late sounds great too.)

Flower show

I know that the South Shore Natural Science Center at 48 Jacobs Lane in Norwell is having a wonderful Flower and Plant Sale on Saturday, May 9th from 9 to 5 pm if you want to come by for a visit and gifts, hikes and animal visits. I would love to say hi when you are there.

Helping out

As so many of us know, Tom Wigmore, Cohasset's "Citizen of the Year" and the guy behind Cohasset's iconic Memorial Day "Healing Field" commemorating our veterans, has been dealing with the biggest fight of his life and doing so with his strongest and most loving supporter in the world, his wife Dee by his side, every step of the way, both personally and, with everything for Memorial Day as well. Tommy is in Rehab right now and the song, "One step in front of the other...and soon you'll be walking out the doooooor" is absolutely the one we all want to be singing and watching Tom do down the road. With all that they are dealing with right now and Dee being home caring for Tom, the love of her life, we as a community can absolutely reach out I am sure to help with this by reaching into our pockets to help in any way.

When you are at Stop and Shop or CVS or Shaws this week, please consider picking up a gift card or two to help Tommy and Dee. Drop off at the Town Rec office or upstairs in the Town Managers office. Tommy and Dee are two of the most giving people around and a strong part of the fabric of Cohasset. They certainly deserve our support.

Walk for Peace

Community members are encouraged to join the "Compassionate Cohasset" walking team on Sunday, May 10 as we participate in Boston's 19th annual Mother's Day Walk for PEACE. A carpool will leave Cohasset Town Hall at 7 a.m. and return at 11:30 a.m. For more information, please contact Connie Afshar at c.afshar@comcast.net or 781-383-6006.

Scholarship

Show your smarts for a Cohasset student, scholarship fund raiser for the Joseph P. Walsh Scholarship sponsored by the CDTC. This evening of challenge and fun will be led by trivia maven and Cohasset resident Charlotte Reel. Create your own Team or join a team at the American Legion, George Mealy Post #118 on 98 Summer St. at 7:00 pm on Sat. May 16th. Scholarship contribution of 20.00 is requested.

For more information please call Agnes at 781-383-0222.

Send in your news no later than Tuesdays by 5:00 PM by sending it to me.

LIFE AT CHS

AP testing makes for stressful week

Finally summer has arrived! While many students, including me, complained of the cold all winter, it seems now that the heat in the school is overwhelming. I for one would gladly take this over the chill one may feel in the science wing of the school October through February. However, with the feel of summer in the school and the sound of flip-flops in the halls, finals and other exams are quickly approaching.

In the throws of AP testing there is little news at CHS.

ASHLEY CURRAN

As each upperclassman student taking an Advanced Placement course filed into the Cohasset high gym this past week, one could feel the stress and tension in the halls. With majority of AP students taking multiple courses, the intensity the week grew with each test taken. The flipside to taking these rigorous tests, however, is being able to take the rest of the day off post exam to go to Circes Grotto and later, the beach.

In the continuance of CHS pride, the line at the Derby Street Chipotle was out the door on Sunday May 3rd. With a percentage of the proceeds from that night going to the CHS Senior class, those who needed a burrito fix were actually helping out the school in a huge way. With these funds, the Class of 2015 can arrange events to say goodbye to our elder Skippers in the best way possible. Thank you to everyone who made the trip to Hingham and waited in that classically long line.

Regarding the seniors themselves, we currently have 13 short days left in our high school career. While for some this means the beginning of adulthood, some may have set their sights on higher education to which our intense schedule of schooling and athletics will continue. The countdown for the class is officially up in the Senior Café where we have proudly decorated and displayed the numbers in bold of all who must remain in school well into June. The true joke is on us though as we are suddenly thrown into the "real world" outside of Cohasset.

One end of the year event I personally cannot wait for is the High School Arts Night on May 21. This night will feature all the artwork produced this past year as well as some musical talent by the school band. All students involved have made incredible works of art and the event comes highly recommended by me, for what it is worth! Not only will students have work presented on large gallery-like walls, senior artists will have special sections of the Senior Café to present the last installment of their high school works.

On that bittersweet note, school is certainly not over yet to which, we the students of CHS, must continue to take on our classes and athletics as aggressively as ever to end the year on a strong note.

—Ashley Curran is a senior at Cohasset High School.

search engine marketing

Before Steven Bukoff discovered our Propel product suite, he had no idea how search engine marketing (SEM) could build his business.

Steven's company, Lawn-Pro Lawn-care Service in Plainville, Massachusetts, had a website but was barely raking the surface when people searched for lawn and garden care. He worked with his multimedia rep. using services from our Propel product suite to identify the key phrases people search for most around lawn and garden care and built ad campaigns to make sure Lawn-Pro Lawn-care appears at the top of search rankings.

The result? A 50% boost in leads generated. Now, Lawn-Pro Lawn-care is considering additional digital marketing tools, like social media marketing.

There are more than 10,000 small business owners across the U.S. using services from our Propel product suite.

GIMME SHELTER

Teddy loves to be cuddled

By Tammy Hatch

Meet Teddy, a 1-year-old all white save for a tiger tail and gray patch on his face, male. Trapped as a stray his origin unknown, he was thought to be a girl on intake. Teddy has it all – good looks and a sweet and peaceful personality. Though Teddy is a door greeter and will dash over to say hello and get your attention, he has a very calm demeanor. He loves to be held, hugged and petted.

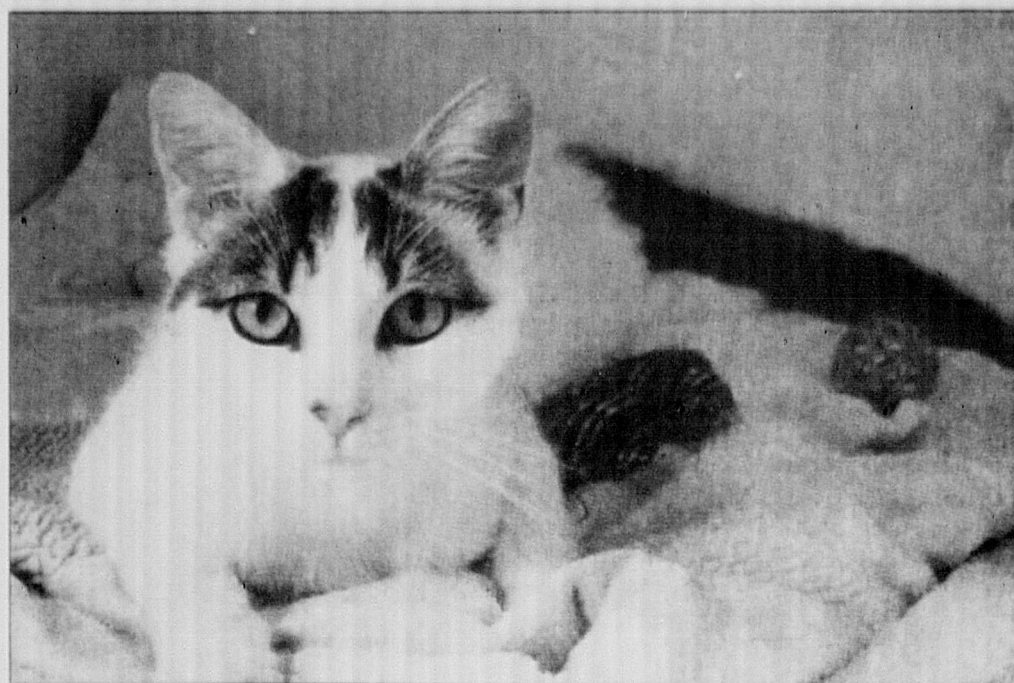

Teddy is a true lover boy! He not only craves affection, but he shows his love unconditionally. Without any hesitation Teddy will crawl up into your lap, nuzzle your chin and give you kisses. Teddy is quick to make friends and gets along very well with the other cats at the shelter and we think he would do fine in a home with other cats.

Won't you come down and meet Teddy! Or check him and our other resident and foster cats out on-line at www.hsar.org. HSAR is located at 50 L Street in Hull. We are open to the public Monday nights 6:30 to 7:30 and Saturdays 2 to 3 p.m. Special appointments can also be made by calling our Adoption Coordinator, Judy, at 781-534-4902. You can also "Like" us on Facebook.

Donations are always needed and appreciated. Check out our "wish list" on-line. Canned and dry dye-free food, cat litter, paper towels, bleach, sponges, dish washing soap as well as used linens, towels and blankets. Tammy Hatch is a Volunteer and Board Member at Hull Seaside Animal Rescue.

of their choice" for 16 hours, so his family tag-teamed through activities like cycling, running, swimming, and skateboarding. The community raised $30,000 for Alzheimer's research that year.

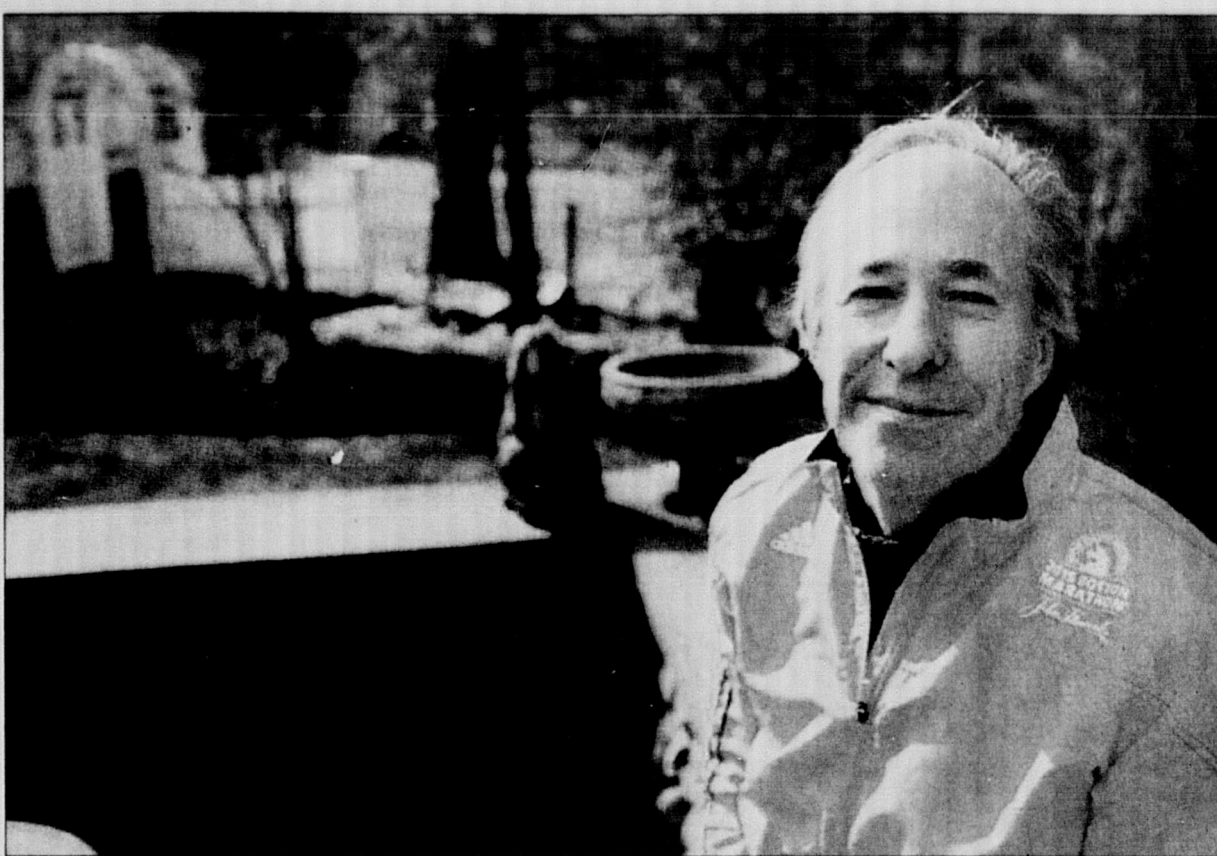

This time, Steele wanted the event to feel a little more focused. He and Lynch came up with the idea of challenging folks to climb all 48 of New Hampshire's 4,000-foot peaks in a single day.

The Steeles often spend their weekends in New Hampshire, where their home looks out over one of the 48. It is this peak, Kinsman Ridge, that Steele will be climbing, along with his children Cali, Sam and Grace, their significant others, and a slew of family members and close friends – together, Team Margie.

Other teams from all over Massachusetts and New Hampshire will tackle the remaining 47 peaks, including a second Cohasset team that will hike Mount Lafayette. The Mass. and N. H. chapters of the Alzheimer's Association are the most active in the country.

Steele's vision is to have 48 pictures of teams clad in their purple, Alzheimer's Association t-shirts at the top of 48 different mountains as a show of solidarity against the disease.

"Taking care of somebody with Alzheimer's is a full-time job," said Steele. "It's a huge burden. This is to recognize what families are going through and to raise money in hopes that someday we'll have a cure or treatment."

Preparing for this event has been a bit of a job, too. "We're inventing the wheel this year," said Steele. He hopes to build on the work he's put in with Lynch in future years.

When the Steeles' friend Kellie Lynch, owner of Balance Studio, found out about the 48-Peak Challenge, she wanted to help. She dutifully hung up the poster that Steele gave her, but that wasn't enough. She decided to have a fundraiser.

Balance Studio has two open house membership drives this month, May 2nd and 16th. Visitors have a chance to try out a class, including a brand new cardio-flavored class, and can then sign up for a membership at a new and reduced rate.

For each new membership, Balance Studio contributes $25 to Team Margie. They raised $500 in their first weekend and hope to continue the trend at next weekend's open house, which goes from 8am to 1pm.

Steele can thank Kellie Lynch for more than her financial support. When Margie first passed away, Steele was looking for ways to keep busy. He had always been an athlete but never tried yoga, thinking that it was for younger people or women only.

Still, he had a feeling that Balance would be a welcoming environment to give it a try, so when Kellie Lynch invited him, he went.

"I was hooked," he said. "It was perfect for an athlete to do. I was astounded that I had never done it before. It was the best thing to happen to me."

Lynch said, "we are so grateful that we're able to support a cause that's near and dear to Matt's heart and put him in a physical and emotional place of balance that allows him to start to rebuild his life."

With yoga in his regimen, along with running, skiing, biking and hiking, Steele feels ready to tackle his big hike – and along with it, one of the most daunting diseases on record. In addition to his extensive work with the Alzheimer's Association, Steele has his own foundation dedicated specifically to the support of early onset Alzheimer's research.

"This year, for the first time, I'm starting to believe that there might be a light at the end of the tunnel in terms of research," said Steele. "That makes me even more anxious to raise money, so other people don't have to experience what we experienced."

BUSY HANDS

35 years at the Arts Festival

By Amanda C. Thompson
athompson@wickedlocal.com

As the Arts Festival on the Common approaches its 60th birthday, not much has changed. Local artist JoAnne Chittick looks back on 35 years at the Festival and remarks, "Showcasing art was the original intent, and that still holds."

The main tent has featured Chittick's artwork for many years. One of her watercolors recently earned first prize in the main tent show. But that's only the surface of her legacy with the Festival.

Chittick co-sponsors a prize for drawing and pastels in memory of her friend Susan DeMichele, who worked primarily in oil paint and pastels. Both women were heavily involved at the South Shore Art Center. When DeMichele passed away, Chittick inherited her oil paints and learned to work in the new medium (before that, she had only used watercolor).

But art isn't all Chittick's hands are good for. Since First Parish Unitarian

Church began its lobster roll fundraiser about a decade ago – which, of course, is now a tradition – she has always had a hand in helping out. "It's an all-church effort," she said. "Everybody pitches in."

Chittick has been part of the Festival for 35 years, through wind, rain, shine, and the sort of heat that could cook an egg on a sidewalk. She remembers painting on site (which she did for many years) when it was so hot that nobody attended. Other years she hunkered from the elements under tents, with vendors cranky over the lack of business.

Church began its lobster roll fundraiser about a decade ago – which, of course, is now a tradition – she has always had a hand in helping out. "It's an all-church effort," she said. "Everybody pitches in."

The vendors have a unique bond, she said. Many come back year after year, and they always look forward to it. It's a little bit like a family getting back together for Christmas. One food vendor promised Chittick a lifetime supply of free sausages after she gave him a painting she'd done of his cart.

Chittick loves to see the Festival showcase a gamut of art forms, now including the music of the high school concert and jazz bands and a variety of local musicians. But the best part is that people who might not otherwise have the opportunity to see original artwork get a chance to look around.

"It's not intimidating, like going to a gallery," she said. For children, it can be their first introduction to the idea of buying art. Chittick's eight-year-old grandson bought his first piece of art, a vintage airplane painted on wood panels, at last year's festival and now proudly displays it in his bedroom.

Chittick always liked art, but she didn't become an artist herself until she had her daughter. She began taking watercolor classes at the South Shore Art Center as a way to get out of the house.

The Art Center served as a gateway into the Festival. Chittick is pleased to see how it's grown over the years. "I think, when they started, it was just paintings hanging on clotheslines between trees," she said. "They still do what they always did, but a little bigger. It's a great celebration of the town."

Clean?

Hosing off your driveway or sidewalk sends dirt, motor oil, fertilizer, and animal waste into our rivers – the very water we drink. So please, sweep instead of hosing. Limit your fertilizer use and avoid applying it before a rainy day. Take care when changing your motor oil. And tidy up after your pets.

Your rivers are closer than you think – thanks for keeping them clean.

Timeline for Senior Center

- 2013: Land at 91 Sohler St., adjacent to Swim Center, transferred to Social Service League, which moved to independently construct a building for a senior center without Town involvement.
- 2013-14: Design, construction, funding, and procurement of contracts completed privately by SSL.
- November, 2014: building completed, but with a mortgage of $700,000.
- November, 2014: Special Town Meeting allocated $20,000 for analysis to acquiring, leasing, and/or occupying the privately-owned building.
- November, 2014: STM also allocated $30,000 for short-term space and equipment rental for operations of Town programs.
- The building is now being used regularly by Cohasset Elder Affairs.
- March 25, 2015: the Town issued two Requests for Proposals, one for purchase and one for lease of a space for use as a senior center. SSL and other parties were welcome to apply. (This procedure was required by the state due to the value of the transaction, which was greater than $35,000.)
- April 24, 2015: SSL submitted the only RFP in either category.
- April, 2015: Selectmen opted to move forward with purchase rather than lease. This was determined to be the least expensive option, since a lease would be indefinite until all pledges to the SSL had been received.
- "The Social Service League wanted to gift the building to the Town as soon as possible," said Town Manager Chris Senior, "but it was uncertain as to when that date would be. This path will get us to where we want to be the soonest."
- May 2, 2015: Town Meeting voted in favor of purchasing the building by bond at a price not to exceed $1,030,000.
- Looking ahead: This purchase has no impact on taxpayers. As the Town's debt service rolls off, it frees up funds that were previously going toward old debts to be re-allocated to new purposes.

the final result.

"We believe the motion before us would give us the ability to produce for the Town an asset of which it can be proud," said Gaumer. "We have the need, we have the dollars, and we have the commitment necessary for action."

The Advisory Board recommended the motion 8-1. "Seniors are a growing population that we haven't spent much money on over the years," said Chairman Peter Pescatore, who is running for a seat on the Board of Selectmen at next Saturday's election.

The Capital Budget Committee recommended the motion 3-0. Chairman Jack Keniley said that, while the committee had previously had concerns about what the building would look like and how it would be funded, now that it's completed, they are fully behind the Town's decision to purchase it.

A handful of citizens expressed concerns about the transaction. "If there's one thing this town does terribly, it's real estate," said Andrew Willard, previously of the Advisory Board but speaking that day as a private citizen, citing examples.

While acknowledging the town's past shortcomings, Gaumer said that Cohasset would be purchasing the building at one quarter of its construction cost and can use it for many purposes.

Pescatore added that the purchase would fit into the Town's existing financial structure. He said, while "there is always a trade-off when you spend money on one thing that you could have spent on another, there will be no hardship to the Town by financing this by bond."

Another voter wondered if there would be any kind of provision to ensure the building would always be available for its intended use by Elder Affairs and not be taken over by other municipal departments or uses. Gaumer assured voters that the final agreement would retain the seller's language designating the building's primary usage as a senior center.

Paul Schubert, School Committee Vice Chairman and Selectman candidate, fully supported the motion. "The Town can afford it and needs it," he said. Voters seemed to agree, adopting the motion by an overwhelming majority.

Other business

The town was divided about the adoption of new water rates, based on the rate study conducted this year by Woodard and Curran. The motion passed by a majority vote. This means that fire suppression fees and fees for legally separate properties sharing a single water meter will increase. Everyone else's water bill will stay the same for two years, then decrease as debt service rolls off.

All three Alternative Energy Commission articles passed unanimously. Now the Town can begin work on its new solar panel array at the old landfill, as well as move forward with classifying and purchasing street lights from the utility to outfit them with LED bulbs.

All items under the Community Preservation umbrella were adopted unanimously.

All budgetary and housekeeping items were approved, including the overall fiscal 2016 operating budget as well as funding to improve roads and infrastructure (which Town Manager Chris Senior cited as a priority this year), to revise the FEMA flood maps, to refurbish our fire rescue pumper, and to enact a solution to issues at Treat's Pond.

With Town Meeting behind us, Cohasset can now look forward to tomorrow's Town election.

OUR VIEW

Symbol of freedom

*O*h! say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.
— Francis Scott Key, The Star-Spangled Banner

Birds are chirping, flowers are blooming, our lawns are becoming greener, and yes, spring is in the air!

We admit that along with the rebirth that comes this time of year — our Patriotism also wakes up from a long winter's nap. This time of year, we pay more attention to the American Flag than at other times. There is nothing so majestic, in our view, than a crisp U.S. Flag flying against a Technicolor blue sky on top of a flagpole.

We ask that those who fly our flag take a look and make sure it is not worn and tattered after our long winter.

While we realize that those businesses, public buildings and homes showing their pride are trying to do the right thing — flying a torn flag is actually a sign of disrespect.

On a personal note, we will never forget a Swiss couple we knew when we lived in Minnesota. Fritz was an "Americanophile" — he loved everything American and it was his dream to come to the United States. He and Ursula bought a home on our street — homeownership in Switzerland, Fritz explained, was beyond the reach of the majority of citizens there.

Fritz said one of his first impressions of the U.S. was seeing an ENORMOUS American flag flying above a Perkins Restaurant on his way from the airport just after their arrival. He was overcome with emotion at the sight, knowing for sure he had arrived in America.

We often think of that conversation and the impression of someone seeing our country with its flags flying for the first time.

We wonder what Fritz would have thought if that huge flag had been dirty, torn and tattered. He certainly would not have had the same feeling of awe.

There is something about the Stars and Stripes — it is absolutely one of the most beautiful national flags in the world. That may be part of the reason — in addition to our patriotism — that we love to fly our flag.

The U.S. flag code states the flag represents a living country and is itself considered a living thing.

■ The Second Continental Congress passed the Flag Resolution of 1777 on June 14, 1777 making the Betsy Ross flag official (13 stars and 13 stripes).

■ The composition by John Philip Sousa titled "The Stars and Stripes Forever" is the national march.

■ When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall or window, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left.

■ The first 50-star American flag was raised in 1960 over Fort McHenry in Baltimore, site of Francis Scott Key's writing of "The Star Spangled Banner," our national anthem.

■ As of July 4, 2007, the 50-star flag became America's longest serving flag.

Nicknames for our flag include: Old Glory, the Stars and Stripes and the Star Spangled Banner.

But no matter what it is called — the American flag stands for freedom and hope for mankind.

American statesman and historian, Henry Cabot Lodge of Boston, said of our flag: "It is the flag just as much of the man who was naturalized yesterday as of the men whose people have been here many generations."

Arnold Schwarzenegger, Hollywood star and former governor of California, said: "As long as I live, I will never forget that day... when I raised my hand and took the oath of citizenship. Do you know how proud I was? I was so proud that I walked around with an American flag around my shoulders all day long."

Cohasset, with its proud history, Memorial Day observances and spectacular Healing Field, is an American town as any. We hope that all those who choose to fly the Stars and Stripes around town will give our flag the deep respect it deserves.

Instead of voting tomorrow...

That was an absolutely disgraceful showing at last Saturday's town meeting.

Sorry, let me explain. If you are one of the dozen people under the age of 50 who went and participated in the town meeting, this entire article is about you. Shame on you; what apparently was not obvious to you was obvious to your peers. The town did not want you there. Seriously, didn't you figure that out? The town had to work really hard to pick a day that would ensure you wouldn't come, but you did anyway.

If the planners could have, they would have had last week's meeting on Halloween or Christmas Eve. Those weren't an option so they chose the day of the baseball parade, first communion, a full schedule of sports games and other relevant spring activities. In other words, they opted to have the town meeting on the busiest day of the year for parents, and the 12 of you still had the audacity to show up. Tomorrow is the town election, and we simply cannot afford to have a repeat of last week.

Last year at this time I submitted an article to the Mariner entitled "Top 10 reasons not to vote," well in that same spirit, I have put together the "Top 10 things to do instead of voting." It's a list for just the 12 of you.

JOHN MCSHEFFREY

■ 10. Wash Your Car: It's been a long winter and road salt does a number on a car. Instead of taking fifteen minutes to go to the Cohasset Town Hall and voting, try the new car wash on Rt. 3A.

■ 9. Swap Out Your Seasonal Clothes: While you're putting away the sweaters and picking out those stylin shorts & sandal combinations, others will pick those who represent your family's interests over the next few years.

■ 8. Surf the Internet: Educate yourself on the new Funny or Die videos; a better investment of your time than caring about the education system in town. There may be a candidate who stands apart from the others regarding our schools, but who cares? Top ten school system or top hundred, does it matter?

■ 7. Go the Dump: If everyone else is voting, the dump should be empty; that is unless too many people read this article and then the dump might be packed and the polls empty. Oh, a dilemma.

■ 6. Be a Bad Role

Even if you do vote, take some time to visit Cohasset's retailers. The closing of All the Best should be a huge call to action for all of us.

Model: Sit on the back porch, grab a cool beverage and tell the kids you're not voting. Tell the kids that you don't care about who'll be looking after their safety. If you can't set a good example, set a bad one.

■ 5. Enjoy the Good Weather: It's springtime and after months of miserable weather, you need to be out enjoying yourself. Forget your tax rate; after being in the sun; you don't need to deal with your eyes trying to adjust to the darkness inside town hall.

■ 4. Go For a Walk: If you're not going to exercise your right to vote, get some physical exercise. Just don't complain about the conditions of the roads and sidewalks.

■ 3. Buy Aspirin: Have you noticed that the tone in Cohasset politics seems to be getting better? Who cares if an elected candidate could set this back?

■ 2. 48 Minutes: This one isn't actually a 'thing to do instead of voting' it's the time it took me to write this column. 48 minutes, it's a record but honestly, the subject of the Silent Majority practically writes itself.

■ 1. Go Shop at a Local Store: If you're not going to help yourself, your family, your neighbors and your community by voting; then help our local stores by going shopping. The small retailers took a huge beating over the winter and many of them are hanging on by a thread. Even if you do vote, take some time to visit Cohasset's retailers. The closing of All the Best should be a huge call to action for all of us.

I hope the 12 of you have found this helpful. I hope that you do not vote, I hope you do not email your friends and encourage them to vote, I hope you do not take your children to the polls and show them what an honor it is to vote, I hope the Silent Majority doesn't make itself proud by showing up in large numbers to vote and I hope you are not taking this article seriously.

As always, thanks for reading and here's hoping for a tremendous turn out tomorrow.

LETTER

CPC appreciates voter support

To the attendees of Town Meeting,

On behalf of the Community Preservation Committee, I would like to thank you for your unanimous vote at Town Meeting last Saturday.

This year your support will result in the restoration of a hand sewn flag made for the towns' bicentennial, improve the trail system and increase grasslands at Turkey Hill, help get three town cemeteries listed on the National Historic Register of Historic Places, and provide hot water heaters and storm doors for the housing at 60 Elm Street.

If you have a project that could benefit from CPC funding, we would be interested in sitting down with you. We fund projects for historical restoration/preservation, open space and recreation projects, as well as affordable housing.

None of what the CPC does would be possible without your support. The CPC has funded many projects that have enhanced the character of Cohasset in the past years. We are truly grateful for your support of our efforts, and we will work hard to earn your support in the future.

On a personal note I would also like to thank the members of the CPC for their efforts. Most members of the CPC are members of other boards in town, and I like to think of them as super volunteers. I appreciate them going above and beyond in their willingness to take the time to help make the town the place we all love so much.

Thanks again,
Russell Bonetti, 20 Parker Avenue

TOWN ELECTION, SATURDAY MAY 9

MEET THE CANDIDATES

SELECTMAN

Martha Gjestebly

Martha Gjestebly, 86, lives at 81 Old Pasture Road. She has four children, Erik, Rolf, Ingrid, and Nils, all who graduated from Cohasset High School. Her late husband, Arne, was a member of the Advisory Committee. The Gjesteblys moved to Cohasset in 1961.

Education: BS in Chemistry and Physics from Simmons College.

Occupation: Retired and worked earlier at Harvard Medical School. Presently serves as clerk of our ship supply business.

Civic/municipal experience: 12 yrs. Selectman; 6 yrs. School Committee; 2 yrs. Planning Board; 5 yrs. Capital Budget committee. At state level was MAPC rep for 10 yrs. (treasurer and secretary); VP Selectman Assoc.; 23 yrs. on the Greenbush train restoration committee; MMA served on Joint Regional Transportation Committee. Past president Historical Society Cohasset, Cohasset Community Garden Club and Cohasset Community Center.

Reason for seeking office: Would like to continue to work with the board and the Town Manager to complete a Senior Center, continue to support our excellent schools renovate Town Hall and especially road repairs and harbor dredging.

What has your campaign taught you: Cohasset is still a wonderful diverse town. The young new parents that I have met are excited not just the schools but eager to help the community. It is a special place!

Quality you most admire: Truthfulness, honesty and willing to compromise on issues

Favorite quote: "It is better to give than to receive."

What can you laugh at most about yourself: I talk about good food, make lists and drive one crazy.

Fun fact: I often write short poems for birthdays, thank you or just a note to old friends.

Best thing about Cohasset: The people. Aren't we lucky to live here?

SELECTMAN

Peter J. Pescatore

Peter J. Pescatore, 69, lives at 12 Lantern Lane, with his wife Jane; they have three sons Matthew, Noah and Christopher. The Pescatore family have been in town for 22 years.

Education: BS - Bentley University 1969; MBA Babson College 1974; Advanced International Management Program, Syracuse University 1979; Program for Management Development, Boston University 1982.

Occupation: CEO, COO & CFO - Senior Executive and Business Recovery Specialist.

Civic/municipal experience: I have been Chairman of the Cohasset Advisory Committee for the past 5 years. Concurrent with that I was also Chairman of the Budget Planning Group for the first 4 of those years. I was named to the Elder Center Planning Group and spent 2 years as the Chair of the Finance Sub-Committee developing the original operating budget to fund an ongoing stand-alone senior facility. I raised awareness of the Town's OPEB liability at two consecutive Annual Town Meetings and became the Advisory Committee liaison when the OPEB committee was formed. I have also been the Advisory Committee Liaison to the Board of Selectmen and the Capital Committee for the 5 years I have been Advisory Chair and have attended nearly all of the meetings of both of these committees.

Why are you running for office: As a member of the municipal government for the past 5 years I have an in-depth knowledge of all of the issues facing the town and want to continue that service.

What has your campaign taught you: That you should never make assumptions about people's opinions and that listening is the most important attribute you can have.

Quality you most admire: Selflessness, it's not about me.

Favorite quote: "If you don't know where you're going, any road will get you there."

What can you laugh at most about yourself: The Pescatore blindness, the uncanny ability to be looking right at something that I need and not see it.

Fun fact: I spent 12 weeks a year in China, Taiwan, Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia and Korea developing product from 1993 to 1999.

Best part of Cohasset: The people of Cohasset, who support excellence in our schools and volunteer selflessly wherever there is a need.

SELECTMAN

Paul Schubert

Paul Schubert, 53, has lived in the half Colonial Elisha Lincoln House on Sohier Street since 1997, with his wife, Cindy, their sons, Nicholas and Xander. (In New England, you don't live in your house, you live in the home of the former owner.)

Education: Blessed with a fine public education that afforded me the opportunity to receive undergraduate, master's, and medical degrees from Georgetown University, in addition to post graduate training from Boston University and Brown University.

Occupation: Since 1997, I've been an active practicing cardiologist at Harbor Medical Associates in Weymouth and South Shore Hospital.

Civic/municipal experience: Outside of my busy medical career, I've been an active volunteer and elected official in Cohasset serving on the Cohasset Education Foundation, the School Committee for two terms, the OPEB (Other Post-Employment Benefits) committee, the Governance Committee and created a non-profit for college scholarships for graduating seniors on the South Shore.

Why are you running for office: I believe I have energy, ideas and an ability to work with people to accomplish what needs to be done to keep Cohasset a community that serves all age groups creatively using the resources available.

What has your campaign taught you: The people of Cohasset are open, bright, energetic, friendly and embracing, whether it's at the Stop and Shop, the ball fields, the transfer station, Dunkin' Donuts, anywhere you find yourself around town.

Quality you most admire: If I must pick one quality I admire in others, it is integrity. Seek it; keep it.

Favorite quote: As a physician I default to the quote, "Primum non nocere"; "First, do no harm". It has served me well both in and out of medicine.

What can you laugh at most about yourself? If anything it's my lack of humor when especially tired, because I love to laugh, it softens the bumps in the life we live.

Fun fact: I grow pears ...

Best part of Cohasset: What I most love about Cohasset is the character of its people.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Harvey Dickstein

Harvey Dickstein, MD, 79, lives at 393 Beechwood St. with his wife of 49 years, Judith. They have two children and five grandchildren.

Education: Received B.A. in Biology from American International College and went on to Tufts University School of Medicine for my M.D. Awarded a Summer Scholarship in Rheumatoid Arthritis at Tufts by the N.E. Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation. My Surgical Residency, including Chief Resident and Senior Teaching Fellow, was completed at Boston University Medical Center. While working at the US FDA, I took advanced courses in Immunology and Critical Care Medicine at N.I.H.

Occupation: Upon completion of my training in Surgery, I spent 2 years on active duty at the Coast Guard Academy with the USPHS, after which I remained in the PHS Reserve Corps. I was a Supervisory Medical Officer with the Food and Drug Administration and a Pharmaceutical Executive (VP) where I was involved in several epidemiological interventions. These included the investigation of Toxic Shock Syndrome in collaboration with epidemiologists at CDC.

Civic/municipal experience: I am a Medical Reserve Corps Cohasset Representative in the Mass. Health and Homeland Alert Network for training and response to local emergencies. When we lived in West Windsor, N.J., I was a member of the Board of Health as well as the Site Plan Review Advisory Board. I am currently monitoring municipal fluoridation initiatives and have spoken to appropriate individuals regarding the HHS April 27 recommendation lowering the level of fluoride in water because of dental fluorosis (mottling of teeth) in children.

Why are you running for office: I feel that my credentials and experience are a good fit for the Board of Health. I know that I would enjoy the intellectual stimulation and research challenges.

What has your campaigning taught you: It is important to communicate with fellow community members and business leaders to identify and define health initiatives.

Quality you most admire: Integrity. I feel that people should follow through on commitments.

Favorite quote: "It is evil for the soul to depart this earth with a trace of envy or regret." This has been attributed to William of Orange.

What can you laugh at most about yourself: As a surgeon, perhaps it is appropriate that I have a persistent slice in my golf swing.

Fun fact: I take trumpet lessons at South Shore Conservatory and was featured with three others in two recent Patriot Ledger articles.

Best thing about Cohasset: There is an intrinsic beauty in the town and it is reflected in the kindness of the people.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Lynn A. Doxey

Lynn A. Doxey, M.P.H., 40, lives at 729 Jerusalem Road, with her husband and two children, ages 3 and 8, who attend the Carriage House Nursery School and Osgood School. They have been in town for one year.

Education: Bachelors of Arts from New York University and Masters of Public Health from the Mailman School of Public Health, Columbia University, New York City.

Occupation: Previously Director of Community Health Education Program at MaineHealth, Portland ME. Currently, I am a stay at home Mom.

Civic/municipal experience: During my professional public health experience, I worked in depth with local and state governments - implementing, overseeing and measuring the long-term impact of programs that address specific needs within a community.

Examples include the design, delivery and implementation of a county-wide Maternal and Child Health five year service delivery plan for Department of Health, and the coordination of City of Portland Minority Health Program's community outreach and trainings for agencies such as the Maine Emergency Management Agency and Office of Substance Abuse.

Why are you running for office: Public Health is a passion, backed by years of higher education and professional experience. This opportunity allows me to continue participating in the community while shaping public policy.

What has your campaign taught you: The campaign is not about me, but about listening to the community. A common recurring theme is the immense pride we all take in being part of this town.

Quality you most admire: Determination. Public health requires the ability to not only understand the issues but also the resolve to see change through.

Favorite quote: "If not us, then who? If not now, then when?" John Lewis

What can you laugh at most about yourself? Like the Cohasset Transfer Station, I am adamant about recycling and composting. My organization at home might be slightly excessive.

Fun fact: My husband proposed at Machu Picchu, Peru after several hours of trekking through a rainstorm and suffering a black eye.

Best thing about Cohasset: Friday night pizza on Sandy Beach. It's a great place to mingle, in a setting that is second to none.

COMMENTARY

Your vote matters on Saturday

By Steve Gaumer

On Saturday, Cohasset will hold its annual election. This is a gentle reminder that elections, and your vote, matter.

Saturday, May 9 may be a tempting spring day, filled with soccer, baseball, First Communion, yard work and plenty of other distractions. Please make a stop at town hall one of your first activities. Your vote is your voice in the matters that affect you and your family. Your vote will influence the nature and elevation of discussion about your taxes; it will help determine how effectively we put our funds to work.

When you cast your vote, you are voting for leadership. Ultimately, your elected officials are charged with setting the course for the town and directing the activity to keep us on that course.

Your vote will influence water rates and delivery, road repairs, ambulance response, library hours, meals on wheels and village parking. Your vote will address big needs like keeping the channel dredged so our fishing fleet has a home port; it will affect the nature and consistency of the school budget; it will address smaller concerns like making certain that street signs and stop signs get installed or replaced.

When you cast your vote, you are voting for leadership. Ultimately, your elected officials are charged with setting the course for the town and directing the activity to keep us on that course. The task requires listening more than talking; it requires engagement and presence more than absence; leadership requires one to act in the best interest of the whole, even when it may be uncomfortable to do so. Leadership requires the discipline to withhold judgment until all relevant facts are assessed. It requires the wisdom to accept that the facts may require a modified conclusion. It requires that you display deference and respect, always.

There is an adage that says "We elect the government we deserve" and I do believe that is true. In our tiny town, we have elected officials by margins as small as tens of votes.

Our little town is a $44 million enterprise — most of which is your tax money -- and employs more than 300 people. It is the Selectman's job to recommend how to spend those funds this year and for years to come, so it stands to reason that your vote on these matters is pretty damn important.

If you care about where you live, its schools, our quiet streets, or the soccer and baseball fields on which your kids play, then cast your vote for the leaders of your choice. You will be glad you did, and so will your neighbors.

—Steve Gaumer lives on Pond Street and is a member of the Board of Selectmen.

going fine and she hopes the election will go as smoothly as Town Meeting.

Pescatore, who is currently Chairman of the Advisory Board, said, "It's been a very competitive campaign. Everybody is working hard." His supporters have stood opposite his competitors' supporters on street corners day in and day out. But, Pescatore said, "We're confident, and I expect to win."

Schubert, who serves as Vice Chairman on the School Committee, is loving the campaign experience. "I've had a ball," he said. He's taken this opportunity to get to know people he wouldn't otherwise meet, especially the volunteers supporting his campaign.

"I have a lot of energy and a great team," said Schubert. "They're just stellar. I hope I win, and I think I've got the momentum."

Two newcomers are in a race for a seat on the Board of Health. The seat was vacated by Chairman Peggy Chapman after 15 years on the board. Harvey Dickstein and Lynn Doxey both said they were pleased to use their campaigns as a springboard for connecting with the town.

Doxey, who is new to Cohasset, said, "It's been a great way to meet people and learn about the town." Her campaign has mostly comprised getting out and talking to residents. She hopes that word of mouth will get the job done.

Dickstein, who joined the race at Chapman's behest, was overwhelmed by support. "People are very kind," he said. "A lot of people say they're campaigning for me." But, he conceded, neither candidate is particularly well-known in town, so the race is still "a 50-50 shot."

Three seats are open on the Trustees of the Paul Pratt Memorial Library. Incumbents Lynne DeGiacomo and Agnes McCann are in a four-way race with newcomers Meaghan Hollenbeck Barry and David Dwyer.

Out of 5,740 registered voters, a 30 percent turnout is expected. Town Clerk Carol St. Pierre urges citizens to attend. "It's important for voters to make an informed decision on all positions," she said.

Vote at Town Hall this Saturday, May 9, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

a proactive Director of Health," he said.

He added that Sarni is coming to a smaller town that has the same workload as Hingham, but fewer people to do it. He has every confidence that she can handle it, describing Sarni as "fabulous."

All told, Sarni was responsible for enforcing 13 regulations in Hingham. "I had to wear a lot of different hats," said Sarni. "I was always multi-tasking."

In Hingham, Sarni dealt with septic systems, building permits, food inspections, emergency preparedness, sewers, and more. Her trailblazing work with mandatory recycling has made Hingham an example for the whole state.

Working with Zemel, Sarni has already done some work in Cohasset regarding fats, oils and grease and has helped to inspect septic systems. She sees opportunities to work with Hingham and Hull to lower fluoride rates in public water.

Sarni has a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from Suffolk University and a plethora of certifications, including ones for public health and allergy awareness. She's also a certified pool officer, soil evaluator, and housing inspector. She feels her experience with recycling, building permits, and fats, oils and grease will be an asset and looks forward to learning about the town.

Sarni lives in Hingham with her husband and two children, 13 and 16. When she's not working, she enjoys knitting, exercising, and spending time with her kids. Her favorite part of Cohasset is Sandy Beach... but only if she's got her sunscreen on!

THE HOUSE AND SENATE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local senators' and representatives' votes on six roll calls from the week of April 27-May 1. There were no roll calls in the Senate. There were only 17 roll call votes during the three days of budget debate in the House on the $38 billion fiscal 2016 state budget. That total is down from the prior two budgets when 40 and then 34 roll calls were held. One of the reasons for this year's lower number is that not enough Republicans stood to request a roll call vote on several issues. A roll call is required in the House if 16 or more representatives request one. Since there are 35 Republican members in the House, the GOP can demand a roll call whenever it wants. That was not the way it worked last week. A group of GOP members who have far less than a close working relationship with Republican Minority Leader Brad Jones (R-North Reading) stood up several times to request a roll call on various amendments. They were not joined by enough GOP colleagues to reach the magic number of 16.

The proposed amendments that were debated in the House on which an insufficient number of representatives requested a roll call included proposals to: prohibit any use of public funds for the 2024 Olympics; create an annual permanent meals tax holiday on March 22-27; prohibit any tax hike from becoming effective sooner than one year after it is approved; require six regional public hearings before any tax hike is voted upon by the Legislature; increase review of rules and regulations with economic impacts on small businesses; and establish smoking cessation programs for firefighters and police.

Rep. Geoff Diehl (R-Whitman) said that Minority Leader Brad Jones (R-North Reading) directed Republican members to remain seated and not request roll calls, and Diehl called upon Jones to explain his actions. "I stood for all roll calls and I would not think to speak for him or to begin to rationalize his actions," said Diehl.

Jones responded, "Once again the representative is in error. I never asked nor told anyone not to stand. As Minority Leader I have a great many demands and responsibilities, especially during budget week, and the sponsor of any amendment has primary responsibility, if they want a roll call, to make efforts to ensure there is sufficient support for a roll call. Any member's inability to secure a roll call lies first and foremost with themselves."

Jones continued, "The budget week is always a busy week with visitors, advocates and a variety of meetings commanding the attention of members and drawing them away from the chamber. Neither Rep. O'Connell or Diehl ever spoke with me before, during or after the budget debate about their amendments or roll calls for their amendments."

Rep. Shauna O'Connell (R-Taunton) said it is important that the people know how their representatives vote in order to hold them accountable. She continued, "I make it a point to be in the chamber the majority of the time. The people expect us to pay attention, not be distracted. I had a meeting that I could not attend because I wanted to make sure I was in the chamber."

O'Connell added that she sent an email to every GOP member Monday at 7:14 p.m. with the amendments she had left that she expected to ask for roll calls on during the remainder of the debate. "I debated on and stood for roll calls that I did not expect," she said. "A fundamental part of our job is to vote. There are people in the chamber who do not stand for roll calls. The lack of transparency in this state is stunning and does a great disservice to the people."

Assistant Minority Whip Rep. Elizabeth Poirier (R-North Attleboro) echoed Jones and commented, "People had meetings and many things to attend to so it may have been just the situation at the time."

APPROVE $38 BILLION FISCAL 2016 STATE BUDGET (H 3400)

House 158-0, approved and sent to the Senate a $38 billion fiscal 2016 budget that increases spending by 2.8 percent.

Supporters said the budget is a fiscally responsible and balanced one that makes vital investments in the state while continuing fiscal responsibility and not raising taxes.

Much of the work on the budget was done behind the scenes. Here's how it worked: Individual representatives filed dozens of proposed amendments to the budget on similar subject matter, such as the amount of state aid to cities and towns, social services and public safety. The representatives were then invited to "subject meetings" at which they pitched their proposed amendments to Democratic leaders who then drafted "consolidated amendments" that included some of the individual representatives' amendments while excluding others.

(A "Yes" vote is for the budget.)

MBTA RETIREMENT FUND (H 3400)

House 38-120, rejected a proposed amendment requiring the MBTA Retirement Fund to make available online the minutes of its board meetings within seven days of any meeting.

Amendment supporters said that this board has operated mostly in secrecy and that this new requirement would make the board more transparent. They noted the retirement fund receives state money and should be accountable to the taxpayers.

Amendment opponents said the amendment should be considered later, when the House takes up a transportation bill filed by Gov. Charlie Baker. They noted that that route would allow the proposed amendment to be aired at a public hearing, rather than be considered in the budget process without a public hearing.

(A "Yes" vote is for the amendment. A "No" vote is against it.)

TRIPLE DAMAGES (H 3400)

House 37-122, rejected an amendment to the budget that would have repealed a 2008 law which requires employers who are found liable of failing to pay wages to an employee in a timely fashion to pay him or her triple the amount of money owed. The 2008 law was passed in response to a 2005 court ruling that left the amount of the award to the discretion of the judge.

Amendment supporters said that the 2008 law goes too far and takes away all discretion from judges despite the circumstances of the case. They argued that the law should be flexible because employers who make an honest error should not be required to pay triple damages.

Amendment opponents defended the 2008 law and argued that triple damages should automatically be awarded to deter employers from holding back compensation owed to employees.

(A "Yes" vote is for repealing the law and is against mandating triple damages. A "No" vote is against repeal and favors mandating triple damages.)

BACKGROUND CHECK AT STATE DEPARTMENT OF FAMILIES AND CHILDREN (DFC) (H 3400)

House 159-0, approved an amendment that would require the DFC to conduct stricter background checks on all applicants to be adoptive or foster parents and all their household members age 15 or older.

Amendment supporters said a recent audit showed that 25 of the applicants' homes matched the address of registered sex offenders. They said the current system is inadequate and puts children already at risk in further risk.

(A "Yes" vote is for the amendment.)

ELIGIBILITY FOR PUBLIC HOUSING (H 3400)

House 115-44, approved an amendment requiring the state to establish rules and regulations regarding the disclosure and verification of social security numbers for applicants of public or subsidized housing. The amendment also requires the Department of Housing and Community Development study and submit a report on the matter of public housing eligibility by July 1, 2016. The report would include the number of applicants and household members for state-assisted public housing who would be unable to access it if required to submit a social security number on their application.

The amendment would replace an earlier proposal to require applicants and household members over the age of 18 to provide a social security number upon application for public housing and prohibit anyone who does not supply the number from being eligible for housing.

Amendment supporters said the earlier proposal goes too far and will not solve any problems. They argued the amendment is a thoughtful and fair approach to this problem.

Amendment opponents said the earlier proposal would be simple and effective: if you don't provide a social security number, you are not eligible for public housing. They argued it is unfair to provide housing to illegal immigrants.

(A "Yes" vote is for the amendment. A "No" vote is against the amendment.)

SICK TIME (H 3400)

House 45-114, rejected a proposed amendment that would delay by 90 days the implementation of the earned sick leave law approved by voters in a referendum last November. The law is scheduled to go into effect on July 1.

Amendment supporters said an initial draft of the regulations was released just a few days ago. They argued that by the time the final regulations are adopted, it will be close to July 1 and businesses will have only a short time to figure out how best to implement the law.

Amendment opponents said the Legislature should not thwart or change a law approved by voters in 2014. They said that an implementation delay would prevent employees from beginning to accrue their sick time hours.

(A "Yes" vote is for the delay. A "No" vote is against the delay.)

RECREATION

Ted Carroll receives national certification

By Linda Fechter
Special to the Mariner

Cohasset Recreation (Rec) Department's Director, Ted Carroll, has been involved with Recreation and Sports Management for more than three decades. His experience alone makes him more than qualified to do what he does, and the continued growth and popularity of Cohasset Rec Programs speak to his efforts.

Carroll, Director of the Cohasset Recreation Department is always looking to do more and bring more to Cohasset. This past March, Carroll received his Certified Park and Recreation Professional Certification (CPRP). The national CPRP examination is designed to assess the core knowledge of job-related tasks common to professionals in the field of parks and recreation.

Receiving the certification is not all fun and recreation games, it consists of not only the three hour test which required six months of studying. It also requires 25 hours of ongoing educational seminars and courses every two years to keep the "title" in good standing.

"It puts me on a tier with some of my colleagues who are leaders in the industry. I am honored to be one of only 3,000 in the country who are professionally certified," says Carroll. "It allows me to attend more conferences and seminars that will benefit the town."

Carroll started working at Cohasset Rec. in high school at age 16, so unofficially, he's been at the Department since 1982. He assisted former Recreation Director Jack Worley and also served on the Recreation Commission twice. In his early years he coordinated the Youth Street Hockey League and the present day Recreation Basketball and Fall Youth Soccer programs. He's been Cohasset Recreation Director since 2008.

Prior to working in Cohasset Carroll was a Recreation Administrator at Hanover Parks and Recreation, a Program Manager at Hingham Recreation for more than a decade and a Manager at the South Shore Sports Center in Hingham.

"Ted's commitment to Cohasset is on display every day, in the programs he and his staff deliver, to the teams of counselors and instructors he's recruited and trained, to the smiles on the faces of hundreds of kids and their parents," says Cohasset Town Manager, Chris Senior. "Ted is one of those individuals whose passion for his work shows in everything he does."

In addition to this Certification Carroll is also a member of the National Recreation and Park Association, Massachusetts Recreation and Park Association, New England Park Association, and the American Camping Association.

"I've worked with some outstanding parks and recreation professionals in my career, but Ted is in a class by himself," says Senior. "He's brought the best of big-community recreation programs and made them work on small-town scale."

The sold out list of Summer Programs and after school activities and the success of the Health & Recreation Fair are a testament to Carroll's hard work and dedication. The Recreation Department is one very good example of the wonderful resources in the Town of Cohasset. For more information about the Recreation Department offerings visit cohasstetrec.com

BASEBALL

The sky is the limit

Baseball wins six of seven

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

Before the baseball season started, if someone told Cohasset coach Pete Afanasiw that his team, a squad with limited varsity experience, would be 7-3 at the 10-game mark, he would have been very happy.

After 10 games, Cohasset is 7-3, and Afanasiw is pleased with what he's seen. "It feels good," Afanasiw said. "If you'd say we're 7-3 with this group of kids I'd take it in a heartbeat."

Afanasiw knew his team would be good, but with weather and the lack of experience from graduating eight starters, it was tough to tell just where they stood.

While working to the seven wins, the Skippers won six straight games, before things unwound a bit on Tuesday with a 15-6 loss to Hull.

"We were up 4-1 in the third, and 6-2 in the fifth,"

Afanasiw said. "In the bottom of the fifth they exploded for 12 runs. It was hit, hit, hit, double, hit. It was almost shellshock. It wasn't a pretty game. We put up the same runs as we usually do, but they came out and out-hit us. Defensively we didn't play badly. That's what we talked about today. I'd rather have it happen now than in mid-June."

The six-game streak came with contributions all over.

"I wish I could put it on one person," Afanasiw said when asked if there were any standout players. "But it wasn't one person. Brett Dooley pitched great games against Abington and East Bridgewater. We trailed in most of the games, but he kept us in them. He wasn't striking out 18 kids, but the defense played well behind him."

"Michael Cohen had the game-winning hit against East Bridgewater and was 4-for-4 with two stolen bases and two runs against Abington. It really wasn't one person. That's indicative of a good team. We got good contributions from everybody."

The solid defense was important.

"It really takes the pressure off the pitcher," Afanasiw said. "With Brett being the most experienced on the team, it takes pressure off when he knows everybody's got each other's back."

Afanasiw said the team still has work to do, but he likes the way the team plays.

"They're playing hard," he said. "They give maximum effort. The mistakes

Girls tennis qualifies for tourney

By William Wassersug

Things keep getting better and better for the Cohasset girls tennis team.

They were on TV in a WCVB High 5 segment shot just in time to show off their new uniforms, and more importantly, the team improved to an impressive 8-0 record after a 5-0 victory over Boston Latin, Wednesday.

With the win, the team has officially qualified for the MIAA Tournament.

Tuesday, the girls posted a 3-2 victory over Notre Dame Academy (Hingham) with Emma Davis posting the first point at first singles over good friend and fellow Wake Forest bound senior Meghan Faherty.

Also on Tuesday, Caroline Van Etten lost a nail biter at second singles in a 4-6 third set. Emily Livingstone and Ryan Spicer came from behind 1-4 in the second set to win 6-4, 6-4.

Second doubles (Meredithe Corry and Nikki Federle) didn't go down without a fight. They lost 6-7, 4-6.

"The star of the day was Carly Gunersen who clinched her point at third singles for the team win," Cohasset coach Gigi Meehan said. "Today's (Wednesday) match against Latin consisted of an entirely different starting lineup with the exception of Caroline Van Etten who posted a 6-0, 6-0 victory at first singles. All of our other courts won in straight sets with victories coming from Mia Martone at No. 2 singles, Sophie Wolfe at No. 3 singles, Caroline Prescott and Sophie Matthews at first doubles and Caroline O'Brien and Maya Placek at second doubles."

Meehan said she hadn't mentioned qualifying to the team yet.

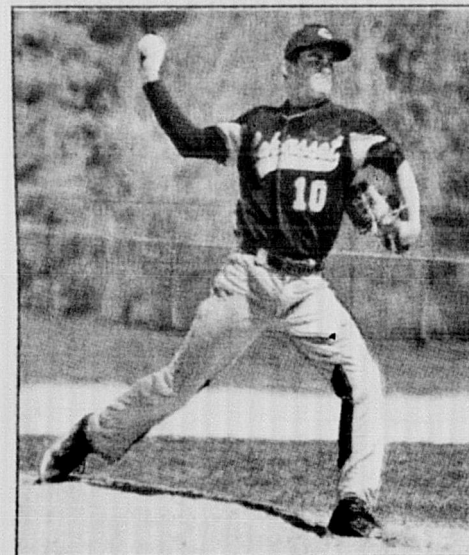

"Feels fantastic," she said about making it. "I don't think the girls even realize it has happened."

The girls are at Monomoy, Friday.

ATHLETE OF THE MONTH

Dooley, a senior, picked up a pair of complete game wins, with the second a 5-3 win over East Bridgewater, which is one of the top teams in the area, coming on just two days rest. He also had a two-RBI single against Carver that pretty much put that game out of reach.

TRACK AND FIELD

Up to speed

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

The Cohasset/Hull track and field team is having a season to remember.

After three meets, the girls are undefeated at 3-0, while the boys team is 2-1.

In their most recent action, Tuesday, the team swept Carver, with the girls winning 69-67 and the boys winning 76-60.

The girls scored a number of first place finishes.

It started with Maddy McNamara winning the triple jump, while Molly McNamara scored first in the triple jump.

Maria Waters won the high jump against Carver.

"She's a returning state champ in the high jump," Cohasset/Hull coach Al LaFontaine said. "She's already qualified for States, and is close to a school record."

Danielle Pincot finished first in the 100 hurdles, and Kate Gibbons won the 800M.

In the 400 hurdles, Lily

Austino took top honors and Alexa Perez was first in the 400M.

Perez has already qualified for States in the 400M, long jump and 800M.

On the boys side, Colin Brookbank was first in the 100M and the triple jump, while Colin Roberts won the 110 high hurdles.

Kiernan Leahy finished first in the mile and Alex Murphy won the 200M.

In field events for the boys, Nick Tetreault won the discus and Cole Morrison won the high jump.

LaFontaine is pleased with his team.

"We're looking pretty good," he said. "Quite a few girls have qualified for the State Meet. The boys are 2-1. They're doing well and winning meets. A few have qualified for States."

With the shortened training due to the weather, LaFontaine said things are moving along.

"There wasn't anyplace to run," he said. "We couldn't even go on the road. I'd say we're focused, play one game at a time.

The second one was that to be completely successful, there has to be complete communication between coaches and players.

Those lessons came out of a heartbreaking 10-9 loss to Braintree in the second round.

The Skippers shook off that loss and won their next four to improve to 12-2 this season.

Those wins included Marshfield, Norwell, Weston and Abington.

The most recent win was a 14-1 victory at Abington on Tuesday.

"We have a relaxing stretch," Cohasset coach James Beaudoin said. "We had practice today (Wednesday) and tomorrow. We're at Foxboro Friday. They're good, but it's a game we should win if we play our game."

Beaudoin was pleased with the Abington win.

"We led 6-0 at the half, then put all the seconds in," he said. "In the end it was 14-1. They stepped up."

For the Skippers, there have been a number of improvements, the biggest being on the faceoff.

"The last three games we've won about 75 percent of faceoffs," Beaudoin said. "Kyle McFetridge, a freshman has been taking most of them. He's made a difference. Matt Froio is a work in progress. He's been getting better and better. Sam Arnold has also done well. Guys have stepped up."

Other solid play has come from the outside.

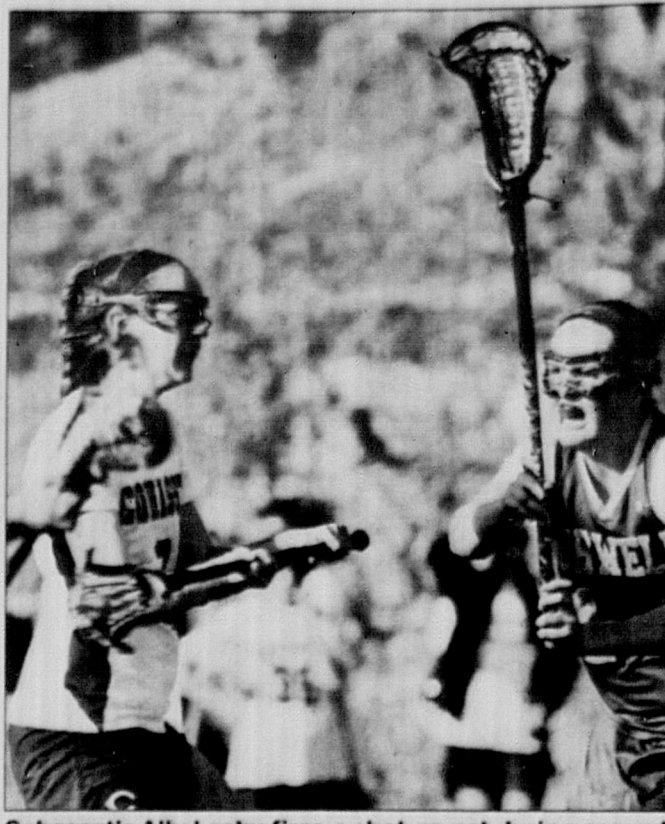

"Our wing play, Pat Holway and Adam Benson has been great," Beaudoin said.

As for the Braintree game, Beaudoin pointed to himself as a factor.

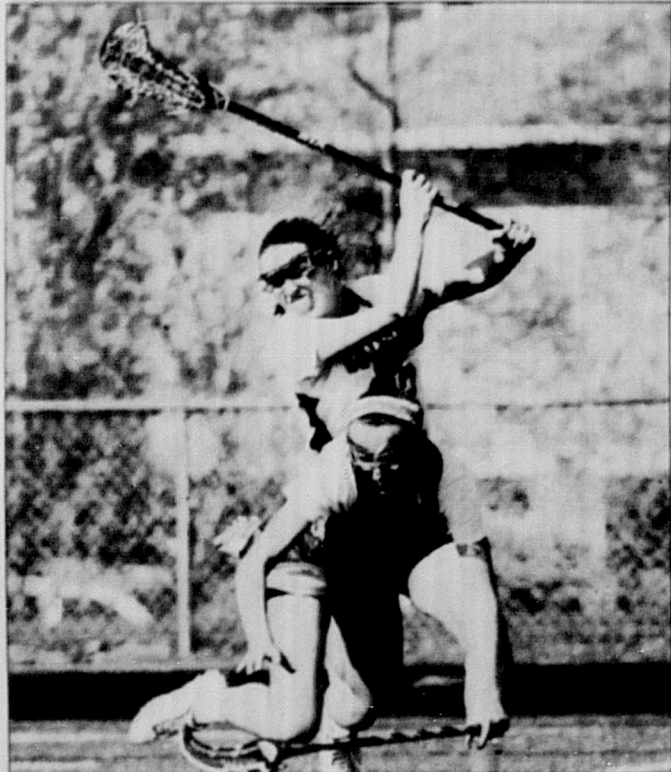

"It was me making a mistake as a coach," he said. "Looking forward to (eventual winner) Catholic Memorial. Braintree played a very good game. They hit on 10-of-14 shots. Offensively, their zone boggled our guys. It may have been a blessing in disguise. It made us look at communication. We've played a zone before, but not with a team like Braintree. We need to let the guys know to tell us when they're having trouble. We definitely weren't adjusting to it. The offense couldn't break through their zone."

Cohasset's Ally Leahy fires a shot on net during second half action of their game against Norwell on Wednesday, April 29, 2015.

Beaudoin said there may have been a little overconfidence on his sideline.

"The coaching staff expected it to turn around," he said. "That has led us to start working on two-minute drills."

One big positive for Cohasset this season has been in the penalty department.

The Skippers haven't been committing them.

"For the first three years I've been here, that's something that has improved," Beaudoin said. "It's something we've worked on. There are no retaliation penalties. Effort penalties we're OK with that. Penalties are down 50 percent. We're not giving up man-up goals."

Cohasset still has big challenges before the MIAA Tournament.

There's the game at Foxboro, followed by a trip to No. 2 ranked Medfield (11-2) on Tuesday. Thursday the Skippers host 9-4 Beverly, and down the road is BC High.

of Megan Fitzgerald, Caty Gilman, Kyle Burke, Bennett Tierney and Lauren Cunningham held Wayland scoreless for nearly 15 minutes to start the game as Cohasset built a 6-0 lead.

Ally Leahy put on a passing clinic as she registered four assists on the day and added a hat trick for good measure. The Skippers continued their torrid pace as Caelin McDonald scored a hat trick as well and they would go into the half up 11-2.

Cohasset did not let up in the second stanza as Golden scored to complete her hat trick and Olivia Coveney notched her first of the day to make it 14-2 Skippers.

Madi O'Neill scored off a nice feed from Alex Martini to make it six different goal scorers and a great finish to the first hot day of the spring.

Cohasset added another win to the total with an 11-7 win over Scituate on Wednesday.

The Skippers traveled to Scituate on Wednesday and started fast, building an 8-1 lead until the Sailors made a run before falling 11-7 to the Skippers.

Hansen led the scoring with five goals, McDonald netted two and Golden, Leahy, Marina Longo and Callie O'Neill had single tallies.

Frederick was strong between the pipes again, with 9 saves including several key stops during the Scituate rally.

The Skippers improved to 7-2 one game past the halfway point. They travel to Falmouth on Friday.

we make are typical high school mistakes. They're not running into outs or striking out a lot. They're making teams make plays. If we can cut the mistakes, the sky is the limit."

Cohasset has had some outstanding performances. Dooley leads the way on the mound and the plate.

As a hitter, he's batting .500 (17-for-34) with 13 RBI. On the mound, he's 4-0 with a 2.69 ERA.

Cohen is 2-1 with a 2.21 ERA, and Xander Schubert is 1-1 with a 3.51 ERA.

Zach Silva is hitting .333, Nick Hall is hitting

.312 and Alec Norton has 11 RBI.

Things don't get easier.

The Skippers are scheduled to play four games next week. Monday they host Monomoy, Tuesday they host Mashpee, Thursday is a short road trip to Norwell and Friday the team is home against Abington.

two weeks behind on training. Slowly, but surely we're getting back into race shape. We've already had three meets. We're doing the best we can with the time we have left. We have six more meets and three league meets. I'm real impressed with the girls team. They come to work and when they need a big day in league meets they've come through with flying colors."

The team has had some work.

"We don't have a big team, so everyone runs four events," he said. "Today (Tuesday) was a good day. It's the first time we've come away from Carver winning. That's a nice takeaway."

Gordon A. Flint

WILTON, ME. — Gordon A. Flint, 68, of Wilton, ME, passed away on April 26, 2015, after a brief illness.

He was born in Cohasset, the son of Louise A. Flint, and the late Gordon E. Flint. He spent his childhood in Cohasset, where he and his wife Patricia began their school years together in first grade. They graduated from Cohasset High School in 1964. He was a 1968 graduate of Bowdoin College, and served in the US Army Reserves.

Gordon began his 42-year banking career at the Old Colony Trust Company of the First National Bank of Boston, commuting from Cohasset where he and his wife started their family. In 1973 he returned to Maine where he became a lifelong community banker, including as President of Northeast Bank of Farmington, later retiring in 2010.

Gordon was active in the Old South Congregational Church of Farmington where his visiting hours and Funeral services were held this week. He was also part of the United Way family for many years, first in Boston, then as Volunteer Co-Chair, with his wife, of the Tri-Valley Area Campaign. He was an active Bowdoin alumnus, interviewing prospective students.

Since his retirement, he enjoyed wintering in Naples, FL, fly fishing and golfing with friends.

He leaves his devoted wife of 47 years, Patricia (Skehan) Flint, his son Andrew and wife Jennifer of California, son Peter, daughter Sarah and her husband Mark, all of Colorado and 4 beloved grandchildren. Gordon is also survived by his mother Louise Flint of Cohasset, his sister Cheryl Libby and her husband Kevin of Falmouth, ME, and his brother Mark Flint and his wife Jeanne of Hull.

Contributions may be made to the Nina Bitterauf Memorial Fund, attention John Bogar, 314 Morrison Hill Road, Farmington, ME 04938, or the United Way of the Tri-Valley Area, PO Box 126, Farmington, ME 04938.

Jane E. Warner

COHASSET — Jane E. (Bussard) Warner, 81, of Cohasset, formerly of Scituate, died April 23, 2015, at home after a long illness.

She was the loving wife of 62 years of John C. "Jack" Warner; beloved mother of Julie Osier and her husband Alan of Medway, and Jay and his wife Kathy of Marshfield; cherished grandmother of Blake Bradbury, Jessica Murphy and her husband Ben, and Samantha Warner.

Please join family and friends May 9, 2015, for a memorial celebration in the First Trinitarian Congregational Church, 381 Country Way, Scituate, at 1

Pauline A. Monaco

COHASSET — Pauline A. (DiTullio) of Cohasset, formerly of Quincy, died April 27, 2015, at home surrounded by her family.

Pauline was born in Quincy and grew up in Dorchester and spent many of her summers in Green Harbor. She later moved back to Quincy to raise her family, eventually settling in Cohasset.

She graduated from Jeremiah E. Burke High School and attended Lasell College, where she received her associate's degree.

Pauline worked as an insurance broker before devoting her time to raising her family. She found her greatest joy when her home was filled with her family and friends that she loved.

Pauline was an extremely thoughtful person who will be remembered for her energetic spirit, kindness and wisdom.

Her main passion was the love of her family and spending time with them especially her grandchildren. She will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

Predeceased by the love of her life Mario J. Monaco, she was the beloved mother of Anthony Monaco of Cohasset, Stephen Monaco and his wife Cheryl of Pembroke, Andrea Katz and her husband Michael of Hingham and Rosemarie Monaco-Goolgasian and her husband Jeffrey Goolgasian of Scituate; devoted Nana of Stephen, Danielle, Christina, Nicholas, Shara and Marisa; great-grandmother of Louie; caring sister of the late Clare Marchionne and Robert DiTullio, MD; sister-in-law to Norma DiTullio of Cohasset and the late Albert Marchionne. Also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Pauline A. Monaco

Visiting hours were Friday, May 1, 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. in the Pyne Keohane Funeral Home, 21 Emerald St. (off Central St.), Hingham. A celebration of life service was held in the funeral home at 9 a.m. Saturday prior to the funeral Mass in St. Anthony's Church, Cohasset, at 10 a.m. Burial in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Donations in memory of Pauline may be made to Alzheimer's Assn., MA Chapter, 480 Pleasant Street, Watertown, MA 02472.

CONSERVATION TRUST

Abutter Outreach Program launched

The Cohasset Conservation Trust (CCT), a private not-for-profit organization that protects and maintains over 163 acres of undeveloped shore land, forest and wetlands, has launched an abutter outreach program to engage with its neighbors. In the coming weeks, residents living near 22 Cohasset parcels and one Hull parcel will receive a postcard of introduction from the CCT stewards who regularly walk and maintain the open land, clear trails, and remove fallen trees and litter. New green and white signs with a seagull logo identify a CCT property.

"One of the attractions of living in Cohasset is its spectacular shoreline and pristine wooded and field acreage that is protected

"Our goal is to nurture good relationships with our neighbors as we work to protect these valued open parcels and maintain their natural beauty."

Debbie Shadd, Cohasset Conservation Trust

from development. To safeguard each property's natural resources, our volunteer stewards are frequently on-site conducting routine management," said Debbie Shadd, President of the Cohasset Conservation Trust. "Our goal is to nurture good relationships with our neighbors as we work to protect these valued open parcels and maintain their natural beauty."

Land held by the Trust is generally open to the public. Beautiful destinations such as Bassing Beach, Great Brewster Woods, Dean's Meadow, Ingram Park, and Winsor Shores offer scenic views, picnic sites, and in some cases marked walking trails.

Founded in 1967, the Cohasset Conservation Trust's mission is to preserve and protect the natural beauty of Cohasset and adjacent towns. To learn more about the Cohasset Conservation Trust or to donate, visit cohassetconservation-trust.org or its Facebook page Cohasset Conservation Trust.

Kindergarten numbers clarified

It has been brought to the Mariner's attention that the numbers reported in the brief "Kindergarten growth spurt" (A3, April 24) were not accurate. While the census shows a potential for growth in the 2016-17 school year, the incoming 2015-16 class is on track to be no larger than usual.

Superintendent Barbara Cataldo clarified, "This year's kindergarten class has 91 Full Day students and 18 Half Day students for a total of 109. The incoming class is currently 13 students fewer." We apologize for the error.

SWIM CENTER

Register now for lessons

The Cohasset Swim Center is getting ready to splash into the Summer of 2015. Register online now for Memberships and Advanced Training Courses at www.cohassetswimcenter.com. Donations will be accepted to support your Swim Center.

Red Cross Swim Lesson registration is now available online. Swim lesson registration for both members and non-members is available online until June 19. Swim lessons will be offered in three two-week sessions: Session I: July 6

- 17, Session II: July 20 to 31, Session III: Aug. 3 to 14. For those who miss the June 19, swim lesson online registration deadline... walk-in registration for swim lessons will be available at the front desk on weekends. Once the CSC opens full-time for the season, members and non-members can sign-up anytime at the front desk for any one of the three, two-week sessions... first come, first service.

Cohasset Swim Center is offering Advanced Training Courses. Interested in becoming a Certified Lifeguard or Water Safety Instructor? Lifeguard Certification, June 21, 27 and 28. The Water Safety Instructor Course, June 29 - July 2. For Lifeguards needing to renew their certification, C.S.C. is also offering the updated Lifeguard Re-certification with CPR/AED on Saturday, June 20. There has been an overwhelming response for these programs and limited class space. For more details and to register, visit www.cohassetswimcenter.com, go to programs and click on Lifeguard/WSI for more information.

COHASSET DRAMATIC CLUB

Summer musical theatre workshops

Cohasset Dramatic Club's 2015 Summer Workshop Program will feature two musical productions including Disney's "Aladdin Jr." for youth ages 8 to 13, and "Bring It On" for young adults ages 14 to 21.

Registration for Disney's "Aladdin Jr." will be held on May 16, 9 a.m. to noon p.m. at the Cohasset Town Hall. The program fee is $400 due with the registration form. Space is limited and a waiting list will be used as necessary. Students must have completed the third grade to participate. Auditions will be held May 26 to 28 from 4 to 6 p.m.

and students are encouraged to attend all three days. Rehearsals are held Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, 4 to 6 p.m. beginning June 2 through July 16, with performances on July 17, 18 and 19 at Cohasset Town Hall theatre. The youth program is held in cooperation with the Cohasset Recreation Department.

Auditions for "Bring It On" will be held May 25 and 26 at 6:30 p.m. at Cohasset Town Hall theatre. Students should come prepared to sing 24 bars of a song that best showcases their ability, wear comfortable shoes for dancing and be ready to read from the script. The program fee is $350 due once casting of the show is complete and roles have been accepted. Rehearsals will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings 7 to 9 p.m. and some Sunday afternoons 3 to 5 p.m. beginning May 28 through July 22, with performances on July 23 to 26 at Cohasset Town Hall theatre.

Additional information and registration forms for both workshops are available at www.cohassetdramaticclub.org, under Youth Summer Theatre Workshops.

PLANT SALE

Learning from master gardeners

"The Massachusetts Master Gardener Association is comprised of amateur and professional horticulturalists with a mission to promote horticultural knowledge to the public through volunteerism." That's the mission statement of the Master Gardener Association.

In order to become a Master Gardener, individuals must successfully complete an intensive course of study that includes soil science, botany, entomology, plant pathology, pruning and propagation. In addition, to be a certified Master Gardener one must also complete 60 hours of volunteer apprenticeship under supervision.

Cohasset Community Garden Club is fortunate to have six Master Gardeners among its members. They are a resource for the members and, because of their mission, they are happy to be a resource to the community.

The Cohasset Community Garden Club's annual plant sale will take place on Saturday, May 16, on the grounds of the Cohasset Historical Society, 106 Main St. Master Gardeners will be running an Ask a Master Gardener question and answer stand at the plant sale. Having chosen plants for a perennial garden, herb garden or vegetable garden, people can then consult with a Master Gardener about planting and caring for purchases. People will also be able to discuss any horticultural problem or ask any plant related question of these experts. In addition to perennials, herbs and vegetables, there will be shrubs, tomatoes and annuals for sale. Light refreshments will also be available.

Sudoku

Level: HOO BOY!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

HOROSCOPE

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A seemingly stalled romantic situation could benefit from your reassurance that you want this relationship to work. And if you do, use a tad more of that irresistible Aries charm.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Going to new places and meeting new people appeals to both the Taurean's romantic and practical sides. After all, you never can tell where those new contacts can take you. Right?

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) That career-change opportunity that didn't work out when you first considered it could come up again. But this time, remember that you have more to offer and should act accordingly.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) There could be some tensions in relationships — domestic or workaday. But a calm approach that doesn't raise the anger levels and a frank discussion soon will resolve the problem.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It's a good idea to begin preparing for that career change you've been thinking about for a while. Start to sharpen your skills and expand your background to be ready when it calls.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Bless that Virgo skepticism that has kept you from falling into traps others seem to rush into. But you might want to give a new possibility the benefit of the doubt, at least on a trial basis.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Travel and career are strong in your aspect. Perhaps your job will take you to someplace exotic. Or you might be setting up meetings with potential clients or employers. Whatever it is, good luck.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Someone might use deception to try to push you into making a decision you're not fully comfortable with. But those keen Scorpio senses should keep you alert to any such attempt.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Romance dominates this week when Cupid spears the Archer, for a change. Positive things also are happening in the workplace. Expect important news to arrive by the week's end.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Anyone trying to bully the Sea Goat — whether it involves a personal or a professional matter — will learn a painful lesson. Others also will benefit from the Goat's strong example.

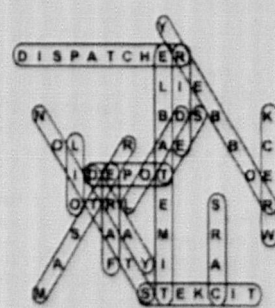

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Congratulations. With things going the way they are, you should be able to spare some time and take a break from your hectic schedule for some well-earned fun and games.

PISCES (February 19 to March 21) Your sharp Piscean intuition should be able to uncover the true agendas of those who might be trying to catch the Fish in one of their schemes.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your flair for innovative art and design keeps you at least a step ahead of most everyone else.
